

Stephen R. Betso was appointed to the Council on Aging Board in 2008 and serves on the ‘donor development’ committee.

Stephen is a retired scientist, from The Dow Chemical Company, living with his wife, Joanne, a retired toxicologist, and their two cats, Buesi and Jasper, in South Asheville.

Steve held a variety of technical and managerial positions and university affiliations during his career and has authored numerous technical publications and patents. His hobbies include writing (poetry, short stories and children’s works), cooking, hiking, and keeping up with new advances in science.